POPE SPEAKS OVER RADIO

WIRELESS STATION INAUGURATED WITH ADDRESS FOR WORLD

Pontiff's Voice Is Carried To Corners Of Globe

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12.—Through the miracle of wireless, Pius XI., supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, spoke to the world today.

It was the crowning touch to the liberation of the "prisoner of the Vatican" and the first time in all history that a papal voice was carried to the four corners of the globe.

The epochal event was the formal inauguration of the Vatican City wireless station, one of the most significant occurrences to take place since the signing of the lateran treaties restored temporal sovereignty to the pope.

The proceedings opened with the unveiling of a marble tablet commemorating the event. Inscribed in Latin, the tablet read:

"Pius Eleventh Maximus, after founding the Vatican City according to the Lateran treaty, munificently built this station, enabling him to make heard as far as the farthest boundaries of the earth the voice of the Supreme Shepherd to the glory of Christ, King in Souls."

After the tablet dedication, the Pope then stepped into the microphone room, a small chamber only ten feet by nine, most of its available space being occupied by the broadcasting apparatus.

Speaking slowly and in a voice of great clarity and dignity, the Pope delivered his brief inaugural address in the ancient tongue of the church.

Senator Marconi then translated his speech into English.

Marconi said:

"Hello, hello.

"It is my very great honor and privilege to announce to you that within a very few moments, the supreme pontiff, His Holiness Pius XI., will inaugurate the radio station of the state of Vatican City.

"The electric waves will carry the peace of benediction throughout all the world."

The Pope stopped talking at 11:02 (eastern standard time). The Vatican City announcer then said the Pope was immediately escorted from the radio station to his automobile to proceed to the Academy of Science where other speeches were to be made and the broadcast resumed.

TO DISCIPLINE RAID VICTIMS

Students Face Civil, School Action

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 12.—Stern disciplinary action on the part of officials of the University of Michigan was awaited today on the campus following liquor raids made on five fraternity houses which resulted in the arrest of seventy-nine students. The faculty committee on student affairs has called a meeting for 2 p. m. today.

Searching the five Greek letter houses from roof to basement police armed with search warrants seized a total of fifty-one quarts of whiskey, wine and gin besides a half barrel of beer, officers said.

The seventy-nine students taken in custody appeared in court yesterday and were released under their own recognizance with instructions to return to justice court tomorrow when Prosecutor Albert Rapp said he will have decided on what action is to be taken. Rapp said the students must face action by both university and civil authorities.

Many of the students arrested are leaders in campus affairs. The five fraternity houses raided were the Phi Delta Theta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Theta Delta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. All occupants of the Kappa Sigma house were arrested.

The raid was staged two days before the annual 'J-Hop," leading social function of the university.

TRADE VISITORS WELCOMED IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 12.—Britain's royal "trade ambassadors," the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George mingled today with the festive crowds of the "city of kings" and received the cheers of its populace.

The royal party arrived here from Calao port by automobile for a two-day visit, and immediately plunged into a program of official receptions, dinners and golf. They will continue their journey into south Peru by airplane.

WOMEN "PUT ON SPOT" IN SALOON

TELLER OF HILLSBORO BANK ADMITS $31,500 EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Signs Confession When Examiners Learn Of Shortage

HILLSBORO, O., Feb. 12.—After having allegedly confessed to state bank examingers that he embezzled $31,500 from the Hillsboro Bank and Savings Company here, where he was employed as a teller, Charles H. Murphy, 27, was at liberty today under bond of $10,000.

Murphy was taken into custody late Wednesday following his reported confession on Tuesday to Federal Bank Examiner F. L. Brumley and State Bank Examiner H. L. Lakewood, who withheld announcement of the case to prevent a possible run on the bank, known as one of the strongest institutions in southern Ohio.

The institution's business was running smoothly today, however, after bank officials had obtained enough money from banks in Cincinnati to cover the shortage. J. W. Evans, president, and Conrad Rhoads, cashier, said they expected no trouble.

A discrepancy of $1,365 was found in Murphy's accounts by the two examiners Tuesday. The young teller was unable to give a satisfactory explanation of the shortage but after long questioning by the examiners and bank officials he signed a written confession, Highland County authorities said.

HOUSE COMMITTEE UNDECIDED ON BILL

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—After spending hours listening to speakers favoring and opposing the proposal, members of the house committee on benevolent and penal institutions were undecided today as to what action they will take relative to the bill, by Rep. P. H. Rogers, (R), of Grafton, providing for sterilization of epileptic and feeble-minded persons.

The impression existed that the committee, at its regular meeting next Wednesday night, will recommend passage of the measure.

The Rogers bill is identical with the measure, introduced in the senate by Senator V. D. Emmons (R), of Akron, which was recommended for passage by the senate health committee late Tuesday.

REFUSES $25,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The offer of $25,000 a broadcast refused by Charlie Chaplin was believed today to have been the highest ever made any artist. The previous record was $15,000 paid to Jascha Heifetz, the violinist.

Chaplin refused an offer of $650,000 for twenty-six radio broadcasts of fifteen minutes each.

WITNESS DENIES HE SIGNED NOTES USED IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Intended To Help Fraud State Says As Trial Opens

WASHINGTON C. H. Feb. 12.—Further details of the operations of the now-defunct Ohio State Bank were to be unfolded here today as evidence-taking was resumed in the trial of the bank's former president, Mal S. Daugherty charged with mishandling funds.

John Perrill, Fayette County farmer, took the stand as the first prosecution witness in the former banker's trial yesterday. He revealed that he signed two checks that Daugherty is accused of having used to defraud his bank.

Each of the checks, according to Perrill's testimony, was for $2,500. They were indorsed by the farmer at Daugherty's request before the bank was closed last May. He denied, however, that he signed two notes which the state contends Daugherty had intended to offer as security and declared he was unable to explain how his name had been affixed to them.

Perrill's testimony consumed most of yesterday afternoon's trial session. The farmer was scheduled to resume the stand this morning.

Other witnesses yesterday were O. C. Gray, former state bank superintendent; Claude Hummell, liquidating agent of the bank, and J. C. Van Pelt, state bank examiner. Gray testified that the examiner's reports showed the bank was solvent at the time it was closed. Van Pelt and Hummell identified records submitted to the court.

MORE BOMB BLASTS PROBED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Two more bomb blasts in Chicago's current wave of terrorism challenged the authorities today.

One explosion, on the south side, blew in the front of a building said to be occupied by Gypsy fortune tellers. No one was injured. Damage was estimated at $300. Police believe the blast may have resulted from a tribal feud.

The other explosion, apparently intended for a storage and van company building, routed scores of persons from their homes in a 65-apartment building near the storage structure. While many tenants were tossed from their beds and showered with glass, no injuries were reported.

DROUGHT RELIEF TO DEPEND ON ANSWER TO SENATE DEMAND

Responsibility Is Passed To Hoover By Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — The sinister spectre of drought relief hovered before the White House today, following the senate's startling action in calling on Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to say whether food, clothing and medicine may be bought with loans made under the administration's $20,000,000 compromise relief bill.

By its action, the senate officially directed the responsibility to President Hoover in their long controversy over use of federal money to relieve starving citizens in drought areas. Only a favorable reply from Mr. Hoover's cabinet adviser can save the compromise, prevent defeat of appropriation bills and block a filibuster for a special session of the new congress after March 4.

The interrogation of Hyde was sponsored in a resolution by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho. It caught administration leaders by surprise and when it was adopted by an overwhelming vote, they abandoned a proposed night session and adjourned the senate to await the reply.

During the night, there were a constant series of conferences between the President and his advisers. Administration senators virtually wore a path to the White House, urging the President to agree to an explanation that would grant the use of money for the purchase of food, clothing and medicine.

One group of conferees which included Senators Smoot (R) of Utah, Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, and Morrow (R) of N. J., advised the President to say the government could not follow the money to its ultimate use, once it was borrowed on proper security. This was the advice given Mr. Hoover too by other administration Republicans.

The insurgents in both parties who fought the compromise on the ground it abandoned the jobless citizens of cities and those farmers too poor to give security for a loan, were jubilant over the trend of battle. They had been on the defensive for two days, while spokesmen for the drought states, led by the Democrats, Senators Robinson and Caraway, of Arkansas, declared themsives satisfied with the compromise. Both Robinson and Caraway insisted food and clothing could be bought with the proceeds of government loans but others questioned their predictions.

The Borah movement was a masterpiece of parliamentary strategy. He introduced his resolution while Caraway was in the midst of a vivid defense of the compromise.

It virtually stunned administration leaders, though they had ample time to object to its consideration. In the end, it was approved by a chorus of favorable votes, although many administration senators sat silent.

TWIN DOLLAR DAYS COMING

Pocketbook Relief Provided Here

Here's relief from the depression, help for the unemployed and a boost for business—all at the same time.

Xenia merchants are announcing "Twin Dollar Days" affecting practically all down-town merchants and covering every type of merchandise.

The special bargain days, sponsored by the Xenia Retail Merchants Association, will be held FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

The timeliness of this special bargain occasion can not be disputed. While Xenians are going through a period of retrenchment, it offers them bargains in line with economy policies that have prevailed since conditions quit being bad and started to be worse.

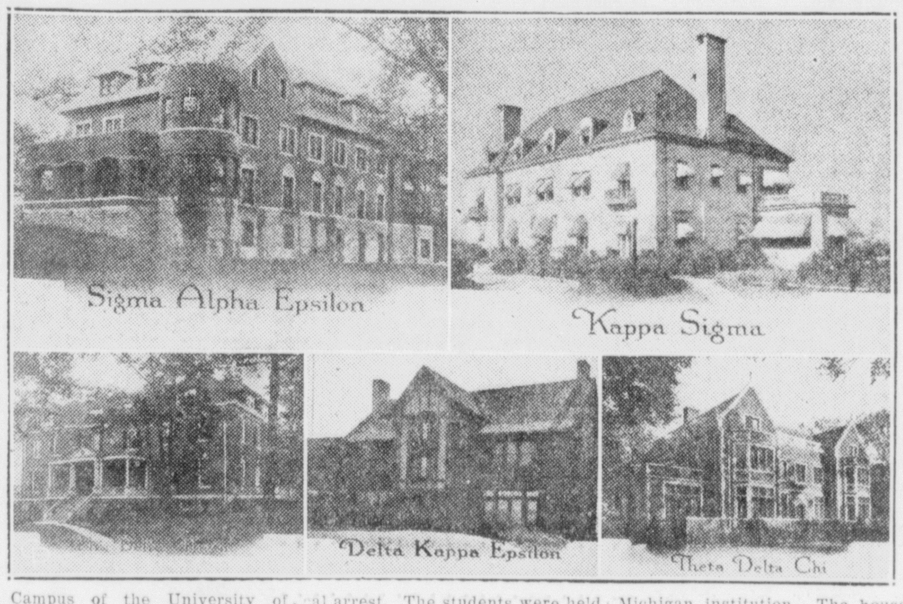

Regardless of hard times, the market crash, the drought or other contributory causes, necessities must be purchased. These Dollar Days will merely help to make the consumer's dollar go farther at this time when this fact is considered all-important.

Merchants are cooperating in these bargain days, all bargains offered are certified by the association as legitimate and honest bargains, and the dates were planned to make the offering timely and of advantage to the buying public.

BLOCK BUYS PAPER

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 12.—The Los Angeles Evening Express today was the property of Paul Block, New York publisher, who also has newspapers in Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, Newark, Toledo and Duluth. Block will take formal possession of the Express on Monday, it was announced. The Express was first published March 27, 1871.

FIVE FRATERNITIES IN CAMPUS LIQUOR RAIDS

Sigma Alpha Epsilon — Kappa Sigma — Delta Kappa Epsilon — Theta Delta Chi

Campus of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, buzzes with excitement over early morning raids by Ann Arbor police, on five nationally prominent fraternity houses and the placing of eighty-three students under technical arrest. The students were held on disorderly conduct charges in allegedly violating the prohibition law by stocking their houses with liquor for the coming J-hop, social event of the college year at the Michigan institution. The houses in which the police allege they seized liquor are shown above, and are, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Theta Delta Chi.

Pope Pius XI Celebrates His Ninth Anniversary

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12.—The ninth anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius XI was solemnly celebrated this morning in the Sistine Chapel before a privileged crowd of invited guests.

Diplomatic representatives of thirty nations to the Holy See were present in full dress uniforms of black, lavishly embroidered with gold palms.

The enclosure reserved for the Roman aristocracy was filled with those whose ancestors for centuries have been faithful to the popes. All the women were dressed in black with heavy veils covering their heads and shoulders.

Knights of the Sovereign Order of Malta and Knights of the Holy Sepulchre were also present, the former wearing red tunics and gold crosses, the latter white mantles lined with black.

When all the guests were in their places the pontiff, accompanied by the noble guards and the Swiss guards, proceeded from his private apartment to the robing room where he put on the pluvial and golden tiara. The procession, formed at the robing room, then proceeded to the chapel.

The approach of the procession was heralded from afar by silver trumpets. It was led by the Swiss guards, in their yellow, red and blue striped costumes, with their plumed helmets and imposing halabards.

There followed the cape and sword secret chamberlains, in black velvet costumes of Spanish courtiers of the renaissance, capes hanging over their shoulders and swords by their sides, white frilled collars, short breeches and long black silken hose.

Then came the whole papal court, monsigneurs in violet robes, bishops and cardinals in scarlet robes.

Finally came the pope, seated in his gestatorial chair, borne high on the shoulders of the "sediaris," flanked by gigantic "flabellis." When he had descended from the gestatorial chair and mounted the throne, on the left of the altar, the mass began. It was sung by the first cardinal created by Pope Pius XI, Cardinal Locatelli.

At the end of the mass the pope bestowed his blessing upon all present and returned to his apartment with the same ceremonies, again to the sound of silver trumpets.

SENATE COMMITTEE APPROVES FOUR-YEAR TERMS FOR OFFICES

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—Agreeing that "governmental office is no longer a political plum, but a difficult and exacting business requiring time and skill," a state senate committee today was willing to trust elective state officers with four-year terms.

Approval of the Taft bill to increase terms of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, treasurer and secretary of state to four years, beginning in 1934, was voted yesterday in the senate committee on elections and federal relations.

The fight over the measure was expected to begin on the floor of the senate this afternoon when the bill is reported out and recommended for passage.

Honesty of state officers today is sufficient to allow four-year terms without danger or handicapping the governmental progress, J. G. Lowery (R) of New Concord, dean of education at Muskingum College, asserted.

Lowery, author of a bill similar to that introduced by Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Cincinnati, declared "the electorate is sick an tired of so many campaigns."

Increasing confidence of voters in their state office-holders will lead to passage of the bill in both houses, Taft and Lowery predicted after the committee meeting.

PROPOSE CHANGES FOR COMMISSION

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—"A poor man's court without floor privileges to corporation lobbyists" is what the state industrial commission must eventually become to satisfy senate investigators, they declared today after their first inquiry meeting.

Proposal of a state law limiting the fees of agents and attorneys for persons whose claims are submitted to the state department of industrial relations may be one of the first results of the probe, Senator Charles J. Anderson (R) of Shelby, chairman of the committee said.

Attorneys and agents too frequently receive as much as half the claims allowed injured persons, Senator Anderson charged. He said he may introduce a bill limiting agents to a definite fee or small percentage.

TREASURY BALANCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Treasury statement as of Feb. 10: Treasury balance $182,714,412.67. Expenditures, $9,166,229.55. Customs receipts, $8,743,517.71.

MORE QUAKES IN RUINED CITIES

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A prolonged and severe earthquake shock was felt at Napier and Hastings, New Zealand, today, it was stated in an Exchange telegraph dispatch from Wellington.

These two cities were virtually wiped out by a series of earth temblors last week which took a toll of hundreds of dead and injured.

Floods are menacing as a result of a heavy rainfall, the dispatch added.

UTILITIES FAIL TO RESIST PASSAGE OF BILL FIXING PROBE

Committee Members Wait In Vain For Protests

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—A paradox—the silent assent of wealthy utilities to a bill designed to prompt an immediate and far-reaching investigation of their practices—seriously perplexed the state senate today.

Senators on the public utilities committee waited in vain last night for expert counsel of rich utility interests to protest the Weber bill designed to remove difficulties of a state-wide rate probe.

Representatives of small oil producing companies in southeastern Ohio, objected to the bill, but if the big utilities had any complaints they did not offer them verbally or in writing.

State representatives E. J. Mildren (D) of Marietta, and L. P. Mooney (R) of Logan, and Dan Armstrong, Columbus, former secretary of the state utilities commission, appeared on behalf of the small companies.

Unless the Weber bill is altered, they complained it will put them out of business. The measure was intended to curb alleged irregularities of the big companies, according to its sponsors.

By employing "a directly and indirectly clause," Senator August Weber (D) of Columbus provided a means of thoroughly investigating rate charges by allowing questioning of both producing and distributing companies.

Existing law does not allow probe of the cost of gas charged by producing companies, though it permits thorough investigation of distributing company rates, Councilman Henry J. Worley, Columbus, pointed out.

City solicitors all over Ohio are eager to see the bill passed, he said.

Final committee action on the bill was delayed until next week.

TAKES STATE JOB

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—Carl W. Smith, former newspaper man of Kenton and Marion, today officially assumed his duties as assistant state librarian following the announcement of his appointment last night by Governor George White.

Selection of John Henry Newman of Columbus, as state librarian, was announced at the governor's office last week.

WOMAN WHO KNEW LINCOLN

Ohio Resident Played As Child, On White House Lawn With Presidents Sons

KILEVILLE, O., Feb. 12.—Vivid memories of sunshiny days when she played tag on the White House lawn in Washington with William and Thomas "Tod" Lincoln, sons of the martyred President, were recalled with renewed interest today—on the 122nd birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln—by Mrs. Ida Kilbury, resident of this tiny Madison County village.

Mrs. Kilbury, as Ida Tway, three-year-old daughter of a member of the President's body-guard of Ohio Volunteers, lived during the entire Civil War within a block of the White House.

She says that she was not deeply impressed by the fact that she was playing with the sons of a President, being content to enjoy the great yard because the lawn was a pleasant place on which to romp and rest.

"I recall that President Lincoln came into the yard many times to sit for awhile and watch us play. We did not realize that he was in the yard to escape for a moment the heavy burdens and cares of the great war or that he was one of the greatest men of all history," Mrs. Kilbury related.

"President Lincoln was just the father of the boys I played with and no more," she said.

Mrs. Kilbury said that her father and mother were ready to go to Ford's Theater the night President Lincoln was assassinated, but just as they were leaving the house, her father was unexpectedly called on duty.

Her parents returned to Ohio soon after the tragedy and she has never been back to Washington since leaving there shortly after the close of the Civil War.

Notables Gather For Ceremonies On Natal Day Of Martyr

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12.—Springfield, home town of Abraham Lincoln in his matured years, from which he went, first to congress, and then to the White House, today staged elaborate memorial services in honor of the 122nd anniversary of his birth.

Visitors, who average 100,000 a year, thronged his home and Oak Ridge Cemetery, where the reconstruction of his tomb is being completed ,and which probably will be dedicated sometime this year by President Herbert Hoover.

Participants in the ceremonies in the state arsenal, which inaugurated the celebrations, included Gov. L. L. Emmerson, Gov. M. Bucker, of Michigan, the ambassador from Japan, Katsuji Debuchi, Gov. William H. Murray, of Oklanoma, known in his home state as "Alfalfa Bill," and other notables.

His excellency, the ambassador from Java, took for his text "Lincolnism in international affairs" and drew his lesson from Lincoln's "with charity towards all" attitude as President.

This afternoon, the chief celebration was in the Sangamon County Court House, formerly the state capitol, in which Lincoln served as a member of the state assembly, and where, later ,he held receptions after his nomination for the presidency in the "Wigwam" in Chicago in 1860, and where part of his inaugural address was prepared.

Judge Henry Horner, of the probate court, in Chicago, an indefatigable student of Lincolnian was

FOUR ARRESTED IN OLD MURDER PROBE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—Solution of the mysterious killing of Homer Griffith, 27-year-old taxicab driver of Columbus, which has baffled police for more than six months, was believed to be near today as police held four Negroes in city prison here in connection with the slaying.

Charles Cuffee, 24, of Norfolk, Va., and Thomas Mitchell, 25, of Cincinnati, were charged with murder in the first degree late yesterday in connection with the death. Both pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary examination and were bound over to the county grand jury.

Charles Parker, of Portsmouth, and Henry Williams, of Cincinnati, were detained by Sheriff Harry T. Paul as material witnesses. The sheriff said that Parker and Williams told him and Prosecutor Don J. Hoskins that they witnessed the killing. Cuffee and Mitchell, were named as the slayers, police said.

HOPES TO SKATE TO FAME

MARIETTA, O., Feb. 12.—Arthur Hall, 27, today completed his plans for a trip to fame and perhaps fortune on roller skates from Marietta to Miami, Fla.

He plans to leave here Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and will make his official start from local police headquarters. He will report to police in each city and town along the way. Hall will leave Marietta by way of U. S. route north 50 and will go to Cincinnati by way of Lancaster, then head for the land of sunshine by way of Winchester, Ky., and Atlanta, Ga.

Hall formerly was a glass worker at Hartford City, Ind., and claims an endurance record as a skater in that city. He believes he can cover an average of sixty miles a day on his trip to the southland.

The skater declares he will refuse motor rides along the route and will "keep his feet" all the way.

VOLSTEAD IS ILL

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 12.—The condition of Andrew J. Volstead, former congressman and author of the Volstead dry law, remained critical today, according to physicians.

Volstead failed to rally from an emergency operation for appendicitis performed last Friday. His condition is made more precarious by a weak heart, doctors said.

AIMEE IN JAPAN

GUEST SPEAKERS AT GUILD MEETING HERE

Mrs. J. E. Orebaugh, Wilmington, and Miss Laura B. MacCracken, Urbana, were guest speakers at a meeting of St. Agnes Guild, Christ Episcopal Church, at the home of Miss Sarah B. Hagar, N. Galloway St., Wednesday afternoon. Guests were present at the meeting from St. Mary's Church, Waynesville and All Saints Church, Wilmington.

Mrs. Orebaugh interestingly described a trip to India and spoke of the temples there. Miss MacCracken, who is diocesan educational secretary of the Episcopal Church, explained the educational work being carried out in the church. The local guild is planning to study India and Miss MacCracken outlined this study for members.

The Rev. Donald C. Elwood, rector of All Saints Church, Wilmington, conducted the devotional period. Miss Hagar played a piano composition by Mendelssohn and Mrs. Charles Adair sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Hagar. A social hour was enjoyed late in the afternoon and refreshments were served by the following committee; Mrs. W. Crawford Craig, chairman; Mrs. Charles Adair and Mrs. Ralph Hall.

AID SOCIETY IS ENTERTAINED IN DAYTON

Members of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Lutheran Church, this city, were entertained at the home of Mrs. Walter Owens, 4104 E. Third St., Dayton, Wednesday afternoon. A business session was held and plans were made for a chicken supper on February 26. Mrs. F. F. Filson and Mrs. Lewis Urschell will be in charge of the supper and Mrs. Edward Nichols will be in charge of the dining room.

Later in the afternoon a social time was enjoyed and a refreshment course was served by Mrs. Owens, assisted by her mother, Mrs. William Conwell. Members present at the meeting were Mrs. Minnie Davis, Mrs. Walter Davis, Mrs. William Bone, Mrs. Carl Mellage, Mrs. Kenneth Witham, Mrs. Theron White, Mrs. Harold Pennington, Mrs. J. E. Kohl, Mrs. W. P. Maxwell, Mrs. Harold K. Snyder, Mrs. Fred Randall, Mrs. Lewis Urschell, Mrs. Edward Nichols, Mrs. Harry Fudge, Mrs. R. A. Huffman and Mrs. Owens. The Rev. A. G. Lebold was a guest at the meeting.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS HERE WEDNESDAY

A tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. J. W. Ballantyne was given by Miss Margaret Moorehead, president of the Women's Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. J. A. McConnellee, returned missionary from India, when the society held its regular meeting in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. McConnellee and Mrs. Ballantyne had worked together as missionaries in India.

Mrs. John Van Eaton conducted a devotional period and Mrs. McConnellee led in prayer. Roll call was answered with missionary items. Mrs. R. E. Bryson, assisted by Mrs. Ralph McClellan, had charge of the program in which members took part. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Jennie Comin.

ENDURANCE DRIVER STILL GOING STRONG

This picture was taken just before Lyle Wood, barnstorming Rochester, N. Y., auto endurance driver, handcuffed to the steering wheel of a 1930 model Chevrolet sedan, started Tuesday noon on a non-stop marathon drive around Xenia and surrounding territory, the endurance drive being made to test the stamina of car and man. Wood, better known as "Pancho Palmer", was still going strong Thursday and is aiming at a record of 104 hours of continuous driving, during which time he will eat but does not expect to sleep. In the accompanying photo Wood is shown at the wheel of the endurance car with Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, standing beside it after having made sure the driver was securely shackled. The marathon will end at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night when Wood will slip into a bed in the show window at the Brown Furniture Co., Green St., for "forty winks." The Lang Chevrolet Co., local auto agency, is sponsoring the contest.

MARRIAGE OF CHILD AND 42-YEAR-OLD MAN INTERRUPTED

Juvenile Court authorities of Greene County interrupted Wednesday the romance of a 14-year-old high school girl after it became known she had eloped with and married a man exactly three times her own age, a former boarder at her home, the ceremony being performed at Newport, Ky., January 16.

The young bride and her 42-year-old husband were arrested in Springfield by the Clark County sheriff and were returned to Xenia.

Charged with being a juvenile delinquent, the girl, Julia Mae Elliott, was committed to the Girls' Industrial School by Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright, but is held here pending the trial of her husband, John Peefer, who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. On request of his attorney, Marcus Shoup, he will have a jury trial February 18.

The couple, officers were told, returned to Xenia after the wedding, the girl living at her parents' home on Stelton Road until Monday, when she joined Peefer in an apartment in Springfield, where Peefer was employed as a stationary engineer.

Questioning by authorities disclosed Peefer and the girl drove to Newport on a morning when the girl was supposed to be attending school. They were back in Xenia by noon after being married, the girl returning home for her noon meal. The girl had been excused from school for the day during the semester examination period and so was able to make the trip to Newport without attracting the attention of school officials.

The delinquency charges against the pair were filed by the girl's mother, Mrs. Reva Elliott. Peefer was formerly a boarder at the Elliott home.

GEORGE LEWIS ILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—George Lewis, legislative representative of the United Mine Workers of America, of which his brother, John E. Lewis, is president, is suffering from complication of diseases at Emergency Hospital. He was stricken following an operation for appendicitis. His wife remains by his bedside.

EX-BISHOP DIES

WINTER PARK, Fla., Feb. 12.—Funeral services will be held here Friday for Joseph F. Berry, 74, of Binghampton, N. Y., retired bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He died yesterday after a long illness.

NO ALARM BUT FIRE OCCURS ANY WAY

Just because you failed to hear the fire bell ring Thursday morning don't get the mistaken idea there was no fire because the apparatus, responding to the twenty-first alarm of the year, made a run to the home of Mrs. Henryetta Logan Shultz, 208 E. Second St., at 10:20 a. m. to extinguish a roof blaze which caused $4 damage. Sparks from a flue ignited shingles under the comb of the roof, that portion of the roof being dry and protected from a drizzling rain falling at the time.

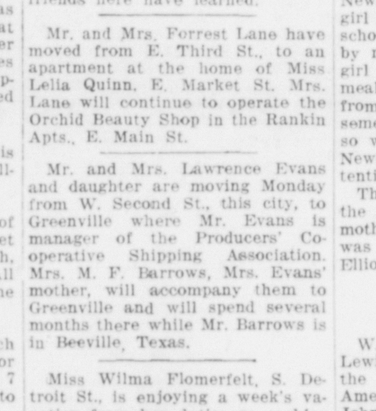

The fire bell at the engine house did not ring because it was out of order. The bell has been operated electrically from a battery system and was disconnected Thursday while steps were being taken to hook the device up on an alternating current with the juice supplied by The Dayton Power and Light Co.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation. — Hebrews, ix, 27, 28.

RETURNING TO WORK

The business reports speak of many cases where manufacturing plants have taken idle people back to work. Philosophers who claim that work is a curse, will not find many of these re-employed people agreeing with them. The factory whistle is to them the sweetest music they have ever heard.

Some people claim that mechanical work, with much repetition of one thing over and over again, tends to wear down people's nervous systems. These recently idle people will not agree with that. They will say that they are far happier, even if they have to do one monotonous thing over and over again, than they were when they were idle.

This will be true, even with folks who had money saved up and were not suffering seriously from their period of unemployment. Somehow the mind tends to prey upon itself when it is not occupied by the thought of industry. Labor is not a curse imposed on man but a blessing.

Many people dream of a time when the worker will have to toil but three or four hours a day, which they feel will leave him free for the higher culture. It may work that way with some, but with many others the extended idleness would do them no good. There would be many temptations to time wasting or worse.

The main thought of the recently unemployed worker here in Ohio who goes back to some job, is as to how long it will last, and whether the industry can run regularly from now on. That will depend to some extent on himself. He can not control those vast and mysterious economic forces that bring prosperity and adversity. But where the workers and managements toil together earnestly and harmoniously, the product is improved, its cost is reduced, and the demand for the product becomes more certain and regular.

THE RELIEF OF SUFFERING

In old times, a great deal of suffering went unrelieved. But today it seems intolerable that anyone should lack food or clothing, or be without fuel in cold weather. People can not live comfortably, if they realize that such suffering exists.

Today the nation faces an unprecedented situation, with 750,000 or more people in the drought afflicted districts suffering from hunger. The situation has been about the most difficult thing that the relief forces ever faced in this country, in that so little warning of the extent of this trouble was given.

With the dislike of our people for appealing to charity, most of these victims probably said very little until their supplies were exhausted. Then all at once a wave of hunger spread through the districts where crops were small. All at once, the nation was faced with a demand for relief, the extent of which few people had foreseen. Naturally, there has been a lack of time to organize the relief work on a scale to deal adequately with such a situation.

The Red Cross has the finest organization for relief that the world has ever known. It has accomplished wonders in this situation, but it could not accomplish the impossible. Now the question remains as to whether the Red Cross can get the money and get it to the people in time, or whether the national and state governments will have to help.

A time when somewhere toward a million people are hungry and many of them sick and shivering, is not much of a time for argument as to how the relief shall be met. Somehow the relief forces must get together and compromise and get the help to them in time. Theories have to give way to facts. The American people must pour out their money in generous offerings.

ME FOR MARIE!

You can have your nightingales, I'll take a brown meadow lark singing on a fence post.

You can have your French pastry, I'll have a piece of apple pie and a bit of cheese.

You can have your pretty, shapely, lilting young actress—I'll take Marie Dressler! She isn't pretty. She isn't "shapely." She doesn't "lilt," either. And everybody knows she isn't young in years. But she has a warm, rich voice, and her heart is generous, and her ways are natural and she gives the world a laugh—and there's no pose about her, no pretense at all. That's why I like her, why I've got what we used to call a "case" on Marie Dressler.

I heard her on the radio a short time ago. Heard a young fellow ask her, hesitatingly, how old she was. He did't know what J. M. Barrie said—"You should never, never ask an actress her age"—but that didn't make any difference with Marie Dressler. She up and told him right away. She's 59, she told him, and happy and glad to be alive, and grateful for the luck sh's been having in the talkies. She'd probably call it luck, but nobody else would. The rest of us know that Marie Dressler—playing those rough-and-tumble, rowdy, stormy, heartbreaking parts of hers—is merely getting her just deserts.

And one reason for her success in the talkies, I believe, has been her willingness to Be Herself, to Be Her Age. She's been glad to be Fifty-Nine in the talkies and she's made millions of other people glad, too. . . . She's like that Mrs. Page, the actress, in Barrie's "Rosalind." Mrs. Page was contented with middle age and she purred when she admitted to her landlady that she was "forty and a bittock," and she spoke of middle age "as if it were a pretty word." She said:

"I dote on it. It is such a comfy, sloppy, pull-the-curtains, carpet-slipper sort of word. When I wake in the morning, Dame, and am about to leap out of bed like the girl I once was, I suddenly remember, and I cry 'Hurrah. I'm middle aged'!"

And that's Marie, too. She has her aches and she has her pains, but she laughs them off. She remembers mistakes and griefs, but she sees no profit in moaning over the incorrigible past. She's real, you can't make me believe she was ever coy in her life, and she holds life close to her in a hearty, friendly, natural hug.

That's why I like Marie, but I can't claim any credit for being particularly wise and discerning—because everybody likes Marie Dressler and I'm just one of the bunch on the edge of the crowd.

THE QUESTION BOX

—Central Press Wash. Bureau—

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

According to the immigration laws of the United States, how many aliens from the different nations are allowed to enter this country each year? What are the non-quota countries?

The number of aliens of any nationality who may be admitted to the United States during any fiscal year is limited to 3 per cent of the number of foreign-born persons of such nationality listed in the United States census of 1910. The quota law does not apply to Canada, Mexico or independent countries of Central and South America at the present time.

ADAMS

What was the cause of President John Quincy Adams' death? How old was he?

John Quincy Adams was stricken with paralysis on February 21, 1848, while addressing the speaker of the house of representatives, being at the time a member of congress. He died in the rotunda of the capitol. He was 81 years old.

GOLD

When was gold first discovered in California?

In 1848.

OREGON

What is the meaning of the name of the state of Oregon and when was it admitted into the Union?

Oregon is derived from a Spanish word meaning "wild thyme." It was organized as a territory in 1848 and was admitted into the Union in 1859.

MELTING POT

Why is the United States called a "melting pot"?

The name "melting pot" is given to the United States because its historic policy has been to keep open doors to the oppressed peoples of all nations and to merge them into one nation of common language and common political ideals. Immigration, however has been restricted in recent years.

PLANETARIUM

What is a planetarium? How does it differ from an orrery?

An orrery is composed of balls corresponding in size to the sun and planets and arranged to turn about the sun on their orbits by means of the turning of a crank. A planetarium, as it is known today, is a much more complicated arrangement, taking in not only the solar system, but also most of the known stars. The machine is enclosed in a high dome resembling the heavens, and upon this are projected tiny lights which reproduce in exact miniature the actual working of the stars and planets. The machine is so intricate in design that it contains virtually all that is known about the universe. The spectator may not only see the stars and planets as they appear today, but may watch them unfold their relative positions hundreds of years hence, or by a few manipulations, the universe may be seen as it was at the time of Homer.

UNSUNG HEROES

NEW YORK CITY, New York—When trucks loaded with bananas are driven from the fruit steamers to the produce district in New York they are followed by a corps of men known as "banana chasers."

The bunches of fruit, picked green in Central and South America, are shipped north in burlap bags; and nearly every bag has at least one tarantula hidden somewhere in its smelly coverts. Porters who handle other fruit consignments balk at bananas. Thus the "chasers" came into being.

One look at The Brothers and you can understand their contempt for a little thing like an intimate brush with a sassy tarantula.

COSTLY SPITE

The lads who labor in the kitchens and pantries of Tammany Town's thousands of restaurants and cafeterias gradually develop an unpleasant outlook on life. You can't spend most of your waking hours in artificially lighted, greasy, overheated, malodorous precincts and keep a strangle-hold on a belief in the sweetness of existence.

Many of these men are foreigners or are of foreign parentage and have come into the world with an inborn grudge against things in general. Thus situated, harassed with uncongenial toil the only way they know to relieve their surcharged feelings to "take it out on th' boss" by sabotage.

Not so long ago the organized cafeteria and restaurant owners of New York issued a statement to the effect that saboteurs among their employes deliberately wasted or destroyed from one to two million dollars' worth of food a year!

BEATING ON GRANITE

STILL GREATER STRIFE CONSIDERED PROBABLE DURING EXTRA SESSION

—CHARLES P. STEWART—

WASHINGTON. — President Hoover and the senate finally having arrived at a deadlock which definitely promises an extra session of congress, unless an eleventh hour compromise is reached, it is interesting to consider what the row is about.

Times, as anyone can see, are hard.

The administration has taken various steps to relieve distress, but the senate, feeling that not enough had been done, wanted to give $25,000,000 more from the United States treasury to the Red Cross to clothe and feed cold, hungry people. The president objected, on the ground that such charity tends to pauperize its recipients. Besides, according to Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross, in a later statement, the Red Cross does not need the extra $25,000,000. In fact, he refused, in the Red Cross' name, to accept it.

Nevertheless, the senate voted the $25,000,000. If the Red Cross will not take it, several senators have suggested that it can be handled by some other agency, like the Salvation Army.

But the house of representatives is more amendable to the administration than the senate. Accordingly, knowing the president to be opposed to it, the former body gave a majority against the $25,000,000 allowance.

That hangs the appropriation up, so far as the present congress is concerned.

However, this congress will end on March 4, and the next house of representatives, as well as the senate, certainly will be less responsive to presidential wishes. It probably will o. k. the $25,000,000 treasury contribution if afforded the opportunity.

The main obstacle is that the new congress will not meet until December 7, unless President Hoover calls an extra session, and he surely will not do so in order to get the $25,000,000 allowance made, considering that he strongly disapproves of it.

Yet there is one means by which the senate can force him to issue the summons, and, once called together, congress can do whatever it pleases.

The senate can accomplish this by refraining from passing bills granting money to run the government beyond the end of the current fiscal year, ending June 30. Should it do so (even though only one cabinet department is left unprovided for) an extra call will be unavoidable some time between March 4 and June 30.

All signs are that such is the policy the senate will adopt.

Obviously, if there is an extra session, for the purpose of overriding the president's wishes, it will open with relations greatly strained between White House and congress, the senate especially.

Even though the president's hand is forced, as suggested above, many politicians believe he will delay calling the lawmakers together until about June 1, when the winter will be over and the $25,000,000 not so much needed. Still, that will not prevent great bitterness of feeling between the occupant of the executive mansion and the legislators who are opposed to him.

Not only will there be at issue the matter of the $25,000,000, but many other sources of friction are certain to develop themselves. Indeed, predictions are freely made that the extra session, if called, will continue, with constant quarreling, all summer and fall, until it merges into the regular winter session, ending only with the opening of next year's pre-convention activities, preceding the 1932 presidential campaign.

President Hoover's supporters, who want the nation's executive head left to solve the problem of hard times without congressional criticism, contend that an extra session will be exceedingly bad for the country's business. Those who take the opposite view argue that it is precisely in such periods of stress as today's that congress is most needed.

How one decides the question for himself depends upon what one thinks of Mr. Hoover's competency and fair-mindedness as compared with congress'.

The rival viewpoints relative to the disputed $25,000,000 relief proposition, the nub of the wrangle on which the discussion of the moment hinges, are admirably set forth by two contrasting Washington publications of recent date—the Washington Post, presenting the administration's side, and the railroad brotherhoods' organ, Labor, presenting the senate's.

The Post, in its issue of Jan. 31, describes the vote for the $25,000,000 appropriation as an attempt at "a raid on the treasury for the establishment of a permanent system for feeding citizens at public expense," and in its issue of Feb. 1, adds, "In its essence" this "scheme is Socialism, which in turn leads to Communism."

Labor, in its issue of Feb. 3, says: "Every distressed man will feel that President Hoover and the American Red Cross have kept him and his family hungry and cold when congress was eager to provide food and shelter," adding that "This is the most shocking, astounding, incredible news that has gone over the wires from the nation's capital in many a day."

Peter's Adventures

—By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent—

BEST FRIENDS MUST PART

Peter was never to grow used to the insects all-of-a-sudden ways. Here he had thought he was to spend the rest of the day with Busy, and now he was told, to his face, that he really wasn't wanted. But Peter understood his friend and took no offense. Instead, affectionately, he patted Busy.

"Don't worry about me, old girl," said the boy. "You saved my life and I am grateful. Never, as long as I live shall I forget your goodness to me. Why, you were willing to lay down your life for me, your friend. Now run on about your own business. I can't travel as fast as you can, and you are in a hurry."

"You're a good sport, boy!" declared Busy. "It really does matter so much that I get back to my people as quickly as I can! I am taking the path through the chickory weeds, but although it is shorter I should advise you to go all the way around the oak tree—you will find the going much smoother. Good-bye."

"Good luck!" cried Peter. The Black Ant had scuttled out of sight into the chickory weed, and Peter was beginning to feel a bit lonely, when suddenly Busy made a reappearance, her black face framed in the green leaves.

"Hey, boy, I almost forgot to tell you! Should you want me, you can find me down at the end of the grassy meadow. Come and see me whenever you wish to—that is, just give us time to build our new home."

"Righto!" agreed Peter. And Busy turned, this time to really disappear. Peter sat down on a stone in the shade to think things over.

"Odd, but people and ants are much alike," he murmured. "To tell the truth, I don't know but the ants are wiser than we are. I am glad I know how the little insects live. I shall never again see an ant crawling down the garden path without thinking of Busy, Chief Engineer and Lively."

MENU HINT

Individual Pork Roast
Mashed Potatoes
Brown Gravy Cabbage
Apple Salad
Gingerbread with Whipped Cream
Or Rhubarb Tapioca Tea or Coffee

Rhubarb is pretty expensive just now, the first having been recently shipped in to the markets. It is a welcome change, however, and as this recipe calls for so little you may feel you can afford it, although I don't usually recommend foods that are out of season. You can, however, save the recipe for the time when rhubarb is plentiful.

Today's Recipes

Individual Pork Roast.—Four center pork chops cut one and a half inches thick. Put butter in frying pan, salt and pepper each chop and brown nicely on both sides, then lay chops on the rack in roaster. On each chop put a slice of onion, then a slice of tomato and a ring of green pepper on the tomato. Fasten with a tooth pick while baking. Sprinkle a little salt over all, pour hot water in frying pan and rinse the brown gravy into roaster. Cover roaster and bake one hour slowly. You will have a delicious gravy. A spoonful of canned tomato may be used in place of the fresh slice on each chop.

Rhubarb Tapioca.—One-half cup minute tapioca, one and one-fourth cups water, one-half teaspoon salt, two cups rhubarb cut in pieces, two-thirds cup sugar. Put everything into the top of a double boiler and cook over hot water until the tapioca is clear and the rhubarb is tender. Serve hot with sugar and cream.

Black Walnut Drops.—One-half cup shortening, two-thirds cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup strained honey, grated rind one lemon, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth cup chopped walnuts. Cream shortening and sugar. Add one egg and yolk of second, honey and lemon rind. Beat well. Stir in dry ingredients sifted together. Drop dough, flatten each cookie with spoon, brush tops with second egg white beaten slightly and mixed with nut meats. Bake 12 to 15 minutes, 350 degrees.

White Bread Good

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.—

White bread is the healthiest form in which bread can be eaten.

White bread does no bodily harm to anybody (at least after the age of 18 months.)

These statements are made emphatic as a result of listening to a discussion on health by a gent dressed in a leopard skin. He had a list of diseases as long as your arm, which he declared were caused by eating white bread. Since his audience apparently believed him, and since I understand there are many more statements of that kind made over the country today, I should like to try to neutralize them to some extent.

Please notice that the statements I made not only declare that white bread does no harm, but is actually the healthiest form of bread that can be obtained.

This is meant as an argument against the half-baked idea so frequently heard that the whole wheat bread is the only healthy form of bread. What does this idea amount to? What is the basis of the argument?

The basis of the argument is that in whole wheat bread the bran of the wheat and the wheat seed germ are preserved. These have vitamins in them and roughage. The vitamins are necessary to health and the roughage helps clean out the intestinal tract.

What the faddists apparently do not see at all is that the two parts of their argument are self-contradictory. The roughage is valuable because it contains vitamins, but the only reason it is valuable as roughage is because it goes through the intestinal tract undissolved or undigested. If the bran does any good as roughage it does no good as vitamin container.

The gent in the leopard skin had not paid much attention to this. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing in this age when there is so much knowledge. The leopard skin would fall away every now and then and show the gent's strong muscles, and all the ladies in the audience would take a deep sigh. I judged he had a strong back and a weak mind.

There is not the slightest evidence that white bread does any harm which is often ascribed to it— it certainly does not cause cancer or any of the diseases, including high blood pressure and tuberculosis which the gent in the leopard skin said it would. It has always been used as an acceptable accessory to other foods—such as bread and milk, sandwiches, bread and meat—and as such is one of the most valuable foods we have.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

J. R.: "What is psoriasis? Can it be cured and is it considered contagious?"

Answer: The winter time always brings out a number of queries about psoriasis. The eruptions usually go away in the summer time. It is not contagious. It can be greatly relieved, but is not adapted to home treatment.

Scolds Selfish Wife

—By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE—

"Dear Miss Lee: About two years ago I met a married man and his wife at a party. At that time I was looking for a position and he sent for me to come to see him and I went to work in his office. We enjoyed one another's company very much and had so much in common to talk about and confided in one another about our dissatisfaction in married life, he having a wife who was not his equal in intelligence.

"He invited my husband and me to his country home for dinner, and his wife acted as though we were not welcome. Her husband offered apologies for her, and said she was not well. Of course I felt it was jealousy on her part because he paid so much attention to me. We invited him to our home and did not include her. I'm sure he had a better time without her.

"This man is much older than myself. My husband was just getting started in his profession, and as long as this man was not happily married and was foolish enough to spend his money on dinners and trips for us, I think we would have been very foolish to turn any of them down.

"The wife later got a divorce. She seems to know everyone in town; in fact, she seems to have friends in every part of the state, and knows every move we make. I understand she has a very nice position where she comes in contact with the best people. For some reason she is not recognized as a working woman and is invited out socially, and always manages to tell everyone of this trouble.

"However, her husband would not let her get a divorce until she signed an agreement that she would never molest my husband or I or cause us any trouble over this affair. But don't you think he ought to do something to make her leave the city? I think he owes that much to me. He lost his home, and while my husband understands the situation clearly, I think after so much talk about me this man ought to do anything he can to make things more pleasant for me, as far as she is concerned.

"Trust you will give me advice on this matter. Brown Eyes."

So, in addition to taking the woman's husband and home away from her, you think she should be driven out of town, do you, Brown Eyes? Sweet and unselfish of you I am sure. Don't you know why anyone who reads this letter of yours will call you? I can tell you. They will say you are a home wrecker and gold digger.

If you had loved this man there would have been some excuse for you to act as you have done. But you don't, apparently, care anything about him except to chatter to and to use for luxuries for you and your husband that you could not otherwise afford.

Did you ever try to think of anyone but yourself? Ever wonder how this wife must have felt when you began to take her husband from her? Maybe they weren't happily married, but that is always a man's excuse when he meets a woman who attracts him, "My wife doesn't understand me." And the poor, silly women always believe him and think that in THIS case it is true.

You say the wife was not his equal in intelligence. Your later remarks about the position she holds and the friends she possesses contradict this statement. Do you really think that women can act as you have done and avoid punishment? You are doomed to a sad awakening if you do.

People are bound to talk about you, and your saddest punishment will come when the man who has bestowed his love and friendship on you wakes to a realization that it has been wasted on a selfish woman who has given him little in return, and demands more and more of him.

It seems to me that the only thing you can do now—you and your husband, too—is to try to make life pleasant for him be sincere and, if possible, unselfish friendship that will consider his happiness instead of your own.

Don't Rush In Changing Hair

—By GLADYS GLAD—

Hair dyeing and bleaching are such common occurrences these days that the sight of an artifically-colored head of hair no longer occasions a meaning lift of the eyebrows. But I am of the belief that too many girls and women rush into the operation without giving it sufficient forethought. I have told you of the importance of choosing a shade that harmonizes with your general coloring—and of the harrowing aftermath if you do not observe this precaution, when having your tresses dyed or bleached.

But there is another factor that you should give a great deal of consideration to before you rush into a beauty salon and request a change in the color of your tresses. And that is the condition of your scalp.

Before any hair coloring is applied to the head, the scalp should be thoroughly examined. If a bad dandruff condition exists, if there are any scales or abrasions on the scalp, whether chronic or temporary, it is very risky to have a dye or bleach applied to the hair. Scratches, irritations, eczema or any other scalp diseases are extremely susceptible to poisoning.

The scalp should be in a condition of perfect health before any bleaching or dyeing of the hair is attempted. Bleaches are drying to the scalp, and may prove very irritating to a tender or sick scalp. And dyes are likely to prove equally irritating and injurious to a sensitive scalp.

A healthy, normal scalp may stand an awful lot of abuse, but a subnormal scalp won't accept a bit of it without reacting disastrously. Women who have used dyes regularly sometimes find that after a few years their formerly abundant tresses have become extremely thin and scraggly. The reason is "plenty obvious." The constant applications of drying preparations to the scalp eventually removes all the natural oil from the head, saps the strength from the hair follicles and leaves the hair dry and brittle.

Hot oil treatments will, to a great extent, benefit a dry scalp. They will nourish the roots of the hair and the scalp, and will help to keep the dyed or bleached tresses soft and glossy. But with dyed hair, there is always the possibility that the oil treatments may affect the dye and leave the tresses streaked and uneven colored.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Soap

Helene: I know nothing of a detrimental nature about the preparations you mention. A good depilatory tends to weaken the hair growth on arms and legs. The lotion you name is not injurious to the skin. I would suggest that you use a milder, blander soap for your skin.

Nail-Biting

Miss N. Kenworthy: Nail-biting is a habit that you must overcome through your own perseverance. A bit of tincture of aloes applied to the fingertips will help to break you of this habit.

Scars

Worried: For more effective eradication, scars should be attended in their early stages. I would advise you to consult a skin specialist as soon as possible about the scars on your face.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED by Phil

Provisions of a comparatively recent ruling of the Ohio High School Athletic Association pertaining to boys' basketball games when two overtime periods fail to determine the winner of a contest may not be generally known so we shall endeavor to give the facts whether you like it or not since we know of nothing else in particular to write about at present.

All extra periods will of course be of three-minute duration. In case of a tie game at the end of the regular playing period there shall be one overtime period of three minutes and then a rest period of five minutes before the start of the second etxra period. If the score is still tied at the close of the second extra session, each player of the two competing teams who finished the second extra period shall attempt one free throw and the aggregate score of those made out of a total of five attempts shall determine the winner of the game.

If tied at the close of this first round of attempts each player shall attempt another throw and so on until the tie score is broken (or the fans lose interest in the foul shooting contest and go home, in which case the players may have the gymnasium to themselves for the remainder of the evening and entertain themselves as best they can, providing they don't get to noisy and annoy the neighbors who very probably are trying to get a little sleep by that time).

As the girls' basketball rules provide no arrangement for deciding tie games the association suggests that the method as outlined above be used with all overtime periods eliminated. There should also be a definite understanding by all the schools before a tournament begins how tie games shall be handled should any occur.

There have already been this season, if memory serves, a couple of instances in Greene County cage circles where this new rule was put into practice in deciding a tie game.

The first application was in a game at Cedarville between junior high teams of the O. S. and S. O. Home and Cedarville. The Cedarville juniors eventually won out after the free throw method was resorted to.

Just a word now on an anti-stalling ruling adopted by the state association and we will call it a day.

The Western Conference ruling was adopted which states that the back court is the defensive half of the court, the center circle being the dividing line. When a player approaches within three feet of an opponent in this defensive half of the floor and the opponent has the ball, the official shall begin an audible count of five, same as an out-of-bounds ball. The guarding player must, however, stay within three feet of the opponent with the ball for the count of five, if there is to be a "held ball."

In this connection, as we view it, basketball and boxing will soon be on a common footing. When the officials begin to count audibly you will probably hear the complaint made once in a while that a player on the home team or the visiting team was given a "long count," something on the order of a "Tunney count." Officials will henceforth need to carry a tape measure or a yard stick around with them on the floor in order to ascertain exactly whether a player stays within the charmed limit of three feet from a player possessing the ball. If not woe to the referee whose judgment in the matter of distance does not coincide with that of a majority of the fans. Think also of the burden imposed upon officials who will hereafter not only be required to memorize the complicated rules of the sport, but will also have to learn how to count up to five.

These are just a few little things the state association doubtless overlooked in its effort to enforce a rule designed to minimize stalling tactics.

JUNIORS WILL PLAY BRYAN HIGH TEAM

The Central Junior High basketball team will play Bryan Junior High of Yellow Springs Friday night there. Coach Patterson's boys have suffered but one defeat this season and they will be out Friday night to preserve their record.

Yellow Springs Juniors possess a good team this year and promise to give the Central lads a real battle. Coach Patterson is not taking any chances, however, and is working his boys hard this week to keep them fit for the tussle.

CENTRAL – GREENVILLE GAME TO DECIDE LEAGUE TITLE FRIDAY

The make or break spot in Xenia Central High's 1931 Miami Valley League basketball campaign will arrive Friday night, which happens to be "Friday the 13th," bound to be an unlucky occasion for either the title-bound Buccaneers or the Greenville High basketeers.

Precariously perched at the top of the heap with a record of three victories and no defeats, Xenia needs must triumph over Greenville in order to clinch its fourth straight championship beyond a reasonable doubt.

Friday night's contest, to be staged on the Greenville floor, will have all the aspects of a championship battle because the Big Green quintet, having lost only one game, could at least tie the defending champions for the title by winning.

It is safe to say Greenville will not exhibit again the same poor form which caused it to be swamped by Troy High last week, and a bitterly fought game is in prospect. Xenia teams have, during the last two years, been extended to the limit to win from Greenville and this year's meeting should be no exception to the rule.

Marquardt, popular Dayton official, will referee the game.

If victorious, Greenville would wind up its league schedule with a record of four triumphs and one defeat. In that event Xenia, in order to tie for the leadership, would face the necessity of defeating Piqua in its final game next week, with the possibility of a playoff for the title in a post-season game, a situation which would be unique.

CAESARCREEK TWP. GRANGE WINS FROM XENIA GRANGE TEAM

Caesarcreek Grange defeated Xenia Grange 36 to 17 on the Central High School flor Wednesday night. The game was hard fought throughout with the Caesarcreek boys holding the upper hand during the entire fray.

The Xenia Grangers did not score until the second quarter had gotten well under way. The score at the close of the first quarter stood at 5 to 0 for Caesarcreek and they increased their lead to 15 to 5 by the close of the first half. Coming back with the same old basket eye that they possessed during the initial half the Caesarcreek lads rolled up a 25 to 11 lead by the close of the third stanza.

M'KINLEY TOSSERS BATTLE EACH OTHER IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

McKinley 4B defeated McKinley 4A 6 to 5, McKinley 5A defeated McKinley 5B 5 to 4, and McKinley 6A defeated McKinley 6B 11 to 8 in three interesting inter-grade matches held on the Central High gym floor Wednesday evening.

In defeating the 4A team the 4B boys pulled a big surprise and thus handed the "A" team its first defeat of the season. Smith scored two buckets and Richards one for the winners. McEntire scored all five of the losing team's points. The 4A team led at the halfway post 3 to 0.

With Huston leading the attack with three points and May adding two the 5A team managed to eke out a hard fought 5 to 4 win over the 5B boys. The 5B boys led by a 2 to 0 margin at the close of the first half. Acton scored all four points for the losers and played his usual good floor game.

In the final game of the evening the 6B boys faded out in the final half after holding an 8 to 4 lead at the close of the mid-period and lost a hard fought battle. 6A boys held the 6B boys scoreless in the last half and scored seven points for themselves. Bottorff, playing but three quarters of the contest, was high scorer for the evening, scoring seven points for the winners. Lowry scored six of the loser's eight points.

McKinley "A" teams will meet the fourth fifth and sixth grade teams of Spring Hill In the opening contests of the final round, Saturday morning.

BIG JOE SMITTLE IS HANDY MAN

JOE SMITTLE

Joe Smittle, one of the best athletes ever turned out at Xenia Central High School, has proved a handy player to have around on the Lang Chevrolet Falcon basketball squad this season. Joe, who has put on weight since his high school days but is still able to exhibit the form which won for him a berth on the Miami Valley League all-star basketball combination the season before last, has been a great help to the Falcons all season, having figured prominently in every game in which he has played. Joe starred on Buccaneer football and basketball teams of recent years and in local cage circles is rated as a fine guard and an equally good forward. He plays an aggressive floor game and is an accurate shot.

HANDSOME ABE

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Abraham Lincoln, by tradition a homely man, was in fact "very handsome at times," according to Miss Helen Nicolay, author and daughter of Lincoln's private secretary, John G. Nicolay.

In an address here last night Miss Nicolay said her father told her that Lincoln was handsome especially when engaged in a debate.

"When debating, Lincoln threw his head back and seemed as though illumined by a lamp within, my father, used to tell me," said the author.

OF JOAN'S YOUTH

I WOULD unto my fair restore
A simple thing:
The flushing cheek she had before!
Out-velveting
No more, no more,
On our sad shore,
The carmine grape, the moth's auroral wing.

Ah, say how winds in flooding grass
Unmoor the rose;
Or guileful ways the salmon pass
To sea, disclose;
For so, alas,
With love, alas,
With fatal, fatal Love a girlhood goes.

YEARLINGS DEFEAT SENIOR HIGH TEAM IN CENTRAL SERIES

The freshmen basketball team remained in the undefeated column in the Central High School interclass basketball tourney by trouncing the seniors 27 to 18 Wednesday afternoon in the gym.

The yearlings jumped into the lead at the start of the combat and were never headed. They held an 8 to 4 advantage at the end of the first quarter and were in front 12 to 6 at the end of the half. They increased their lead to 22 to 8 at the close of the third period and merely coasted through to victory in the final session.

Little "Red" Hook led the attack of the freshies with six field goals and a free throw for a total of thirteen points for the afternoon. Huston led the losers scoring eight points. Lineups:

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

SUES ESTATE HERE; TWO ASK DIVORCES; LOCAL COURT NEWS

Suit to recover $3,222.94, alleged due from the estate of the decedent, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Oscar S. Hull against J. C. Armentrout, as administrator of the estate of James W. Hull, deceased, and Sarah N. Hull, widow of the decedent. The plaintiff sets forth that James W. Hull, during his life, and his wife jointly owned a farm of 19.11 acres situated in Greene County and that at the owner's request he paid out $3,222.94 for maintenance and improvements on the farm. This sum, it is contended, remains unpaid and a claim for the amount was disallowed when presented to the administrator. Attorney F. L. Johnson represents the plaintiff.

TWO SEEK DIVORCE

On grounds of gross neglect of duty and wilful absence from home for more than three years, Anna M. Leslie seeks a divorce from Walter J. Leslie, Columbus, in a suit on file in Common Pleas Court. They were married November 25, 1923 at Columbus. The plaintiff desires to be awarded custody of two minor children, James, 6, and Victoria, 5.

Suit for divorce on grounds of wilful absence from home for more than three years, has been filed by Dessie Hilling against Elmer Hilling. They were married in 1918. The plaintiff asks to be awarded custody of two children, Eugene and Mary.

Office Romances on the Increase And Are Eminently Successful

Following the Oratory of the Noted Educator of the Northwestern University, Femmes of the Business World Walk on Winged Heels Keeping a Watchful Eye on the Boss Whom They One Day May Wed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—When Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell issued his now famous exhortation, "Marry your secretary" to the student body of Northwestern University, he imagined, as did most of the listeners, that he was expounding a new idea. He wasn't.

Marriages between secretaries and their bosses have been taking place for a long, long time and—there's this to say to Dr. Cornell's theory—they turn out in most cases eminently successful.

For instance, Miss Ada Schmidt landed here from Denmark a short five years ago. For three years she worked as secretary and companion to the aged mother of Governor Morgan F. Larson, of New Jersey. Then, to the surprise of his family and friends, Governor Larson and Miss Schmidt were married. And happily married at that.

Old "Fighting Bob" La Follette was another luminary in the political sky who married the lady whose duty it was to record his words in black and white. After their marriage they continued to run the household and office together and everything worked out splendidly. Senator "Fighting Bob's" son, Bob, Jr., who took hold of the reins on his father's death also married his secretary. But his was no office romance. Young Bob met his bride, Miss Rachel Wilson, while she was still attending high school and when he took over his father's business he made her his secretary. However, the announcement of his marrfage came as a complete surprise to his friends.

Still another political light, Congressman La Guardia, married the girl who helped him run his office and aided him in his political campaigns. Now, happily married, the still helps him in business and politics.

Others on the list include C. W. Post, who founded the Postum Company. E. M. Statler, the late millionaire hotel owner, married his secretary. She continued to be his chief assistant while he lived. After his death she was appointed manager of the enormous string of Statler hotels.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, married his secretary last year in London, England.

Of course, one must not asume from the foregoing instances that the paths of secretarial romance—as we'll call it—is always bestrewn with primroses. Very often it proves to be a rugged, thorny one. A notable example of the latter was the case of Mrs. Lillian Altwater Hecksher. Hecksher's first wife, who had won her divorce for him only three weeks before he married his secretary, brought suit for $250,000 for alienation of affections against her successor. There were few primroses on that path.

There are many angles to be considered in this secretary-boss marriage idea which Dr. Cornell has failed to take into account. Chief among them is the problem of recreation and relaxation from business thoughts and worries.

When a man marries his secretary and she continues to help him in his business, there ceases to be any such thing as "after office" hours. The couple are in each others company constantly—twenty-four hours a day—and all of the time both are burdened with mutual business worries.

BISHOP CANNON'S SON CONVICTED

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 12.—Found guilty of violation of the state labor laws, Richard M. Cannon, son of James Cannon, Jr., a bishop of the Methodist Church, South, will appear for sentence here Friday, at which time his attorneys will argue for a new trial.

Cannon was accused of failing to pay Mrs. Phyllis Case $33 due as salary for teaching Cannon's La Crescenta School for Boys.

The jury brought in its verdict after less than fifteen minutes of deliberation.

Valentines Change - But Old Sentiment Prevails

By MILDRED MASON

LITTLE DAN CUPID, with his pack of bows and arrows will be cavorting Saturday for as you know that is February 14 or St. Valentine's Day. And have you noticed the attractive Valentines on display this year? Of course they tell the "old, old story" but they tell it in a manner that is decidedly different from Valentines of previous years.

Prints attached to double-fold booklets are leading in Valentine popularity this year. The prints are on mats of cream or in soft pastel shades and may be framed. Then there are the "olde time" Valentines, showing quaint maidens of the crinoline days with their "beaus" against a background of an old-fashioned garden.

The extreme modernistic designs in Valentines have disappeared this year and the "comic Valentine" is also disappearing. Instead there is an increasing number in the bantering style of modern youth. Many novel Valentines with line-drawings in black outlined on white are being shown and cats, dogs and other animals appear in all sorts of poses on Valentines this year with humorous lines.

Although white envelopes are still popular there is a tendency toward the tinted envelope. Many of the envelopes now are lined with pastel tissue paper which is something new and different.

Did you know that it has been the custom for lads and lassies to exchange these love greetings for more than 1500 years? The origin of St. Valentine's Day can be traced back to the ancient Roman feast of the Lupercalia in February, a feature of which was the "love urn". The names of maidens were placed in an urn and each youth, blindfolded, drew out the name of a maiden, destined to be his sweetheart. Finally the Roman church changed this day from the feast of the Lupercalia to the day that St. Valentine, a famous martyr of the Christian calendar, met death in 270 A. D. Valentines flourished through the Middle Ages and were popular in the seventh and eighteenth centuries. Commercial Valentines were introduced in England about 1800 and in this country about fifty years later.

Goitre Not A Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. A-3, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today. Adv.

THIS WEEK 20% OFF

AT the Townsley Hatcheries Banquet held in Wilmington Tuesday evening, February 10th, Mr. T. S. Townsley, president, announced a new plan for regulating the price of Townsley "Thorogood" Chicks. The plan is as follows:

For the year 1930 we paid to flock-owners an average price of 38 cents per dozen for hatching eggs. Using this as a base we are going to give the chick buyer a reduction on chick prices that will compare with the lower egg prices prevailing at this time. As an example; if we pay 28 cents for eggs this week, that will be 10 cents a dozen below last years' average or about 20%. Therefore we will deduct 20% from our regular chick prices for this particular week only.

The following table will give the percentage of reduction on chick prices as compared to egg price:

If we pay 38c for eggs; deduct 0% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 37c for eggs; deduct 2% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 36c for eggs; deduct 4% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 35c for eggs; deduct 6% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 34c for eggs; deduct 8% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 33c for eggs; deduct 10% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 32c for eggs; deduct 12% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 31c for eggs; deduct 14% from egg prices that week.
If we pay 30c for eggs; deduct 16% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 29c for eggs; deduct 18% from chick prices that week.
If we pay 28c for eggs; deduct 20% from chick prices that week.

For each additional cent drop in eggs deduct 2% from chick prices.

This percentage of reduction will also apply on started chicks on hand, brooder stoves, chick feeders and water founts.

If you want to save money on chicks and brooding equipment now is the time. Get your chicks and supplies at once or book them for future delivery. The lower the price of eggs the less you will have to pay. For additional information call 129.

LECTURER TO GIVE SECRED PAGENT AT CHURCH NEXT WEEK

J. E. HOLLY

Few world travelers can boast of the fact that they have stood on every traditional spot mentioned in the Bible. However, J. E. Holly, Cincinnati, author, traveler and lecturer, claims such distinction. He has written twelve volumes on this subject and has lectured in most of the larger cities in this country.

Mr. Holly has been engaged by the Xenia Ministerial Association to present, "The Sacred Pageant of the Ages," or "Jesus of Nazareth," in Xenia beginning Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The six meetings of the series will be held on successive nights in the Presbyterian Church, of which the Rev. Wm. H. Tilford is the pastor.

Step by step, every move that Jesus made and in chronological order, from the annunciation to the ascension, as well as every deed He performed, will be presented both by lecture and special patented colored slides.

According to Mr. Holly's explanation of the program, there will be no repetitions and there will be a change of scene every moment from the beginning to the end. The programs are scheduled for one hour each evening and are open to the public. No admission fee will be charged.

Before Childbirth

Turn the months of waiting into ease and comfort

Mrs. W. B. Shupp, Burke, Idaho, writes: "I applied Mother's Friend before my last baby came and it helped me wonderfully. It gave me relief during the waiting time and helped me to have an easy delivery." Mother's Friend is soothing and relaxing to the nerves and tissues. It is a discovery of an eminent obstetrician. Praised by countless thousands for over 60 years. Used externally. Ask for Mother's Friend at your drug store. Muscular-Rheumatic Aches and Pains

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Distressing muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond pleasantly to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant," because it gets action and is not just a salve. Musterole helps bring soreness and pain to the surface, and thus gives natural relief. You can feel how its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy; jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

COLUMBUS PASTOR MADE MINISTER OF TRINITY CHURCH

The Rev. Ralph E. Simester, pastor of Briggsdale M. E. Church Columbus, has been appointed pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, this city, according to word received Wednesday by George W. Street, a member of the local church board, from Dr. J. C. Bickel, superintendent of the M. E. Church of the Dayton district. The Rev. Mr. Simester will succeed the Rev. A. H. Beardsley, who resigned from the Methodist conference and will become rector of an Episcopal church in Cape Girardau, Mo.

The Rev. Mr. Simester is married and has a daughter nineteen months old. He has been highly recommended to the local church board by Dr. Bickel. Date for his coming to Xenia has not been announced.

MAGAZINE DRIVE IN SCHOOL CLOSES

The Central Junior High School magazine campaign came to a close last Friday afternoon at the close of school with a total of 146 subscriptions sold.

The red team won over the black team by a margin of ninety-seven to forty-nine subscriptions. The home room that sold the most subscriptions was that of a group of eighth grade girls in room 103, whose total was forty-one subscriptions. They were permitted to have the radio that was purchased placed in their room for the time being. The proceeds from the magazine sales will be used to purchase radios for the junior high home rooms at Central. Educational, musical programs and school of the air programs will be listened in on over the radios.

MUST SERVE TERM

The Rev. James A. Wilson, former pastor of Mendota, Ill., who, the Supreme Court of Illinois decided, must serve his term of from one to fourteen years for shooting Amos Elliott, janitor at his church.

BOWERSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bock were called to Dayton Monday to attend their nephew John Bock's little son's funeral.

Mrs. William Baker entertained on Friday at a quilting, the Ladies Aid Society and several invited guests.

Ado Breakfield and family and Dwight Burr and family were guests of Charles Miley and family Sunday.

The Community Institute will be held at the school auditorium Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 18 and 19. Exhibits of corn, oats and wheat, cakes, cookies, bread and rolls and home economics and manual training work will be part of features in connection with the speakers.

The fire department was called to Paintersville Saturday night. The building formerly owned by Dr. R. L. Haines was burned. Other buildings were in quite a bit of danger for a while. It is not known how the fire originated as the building was unoccupied at the time.

Revival services closed at the M. E. Church Sunday night.

Mrs. Henry Warnock of Jamestown is spending a few days with her son Walker and family.

Mrs. Asa Oliver entertained the members of her Sunday School Class Thursday honoring Mrs. Vernon Smith who will shortly move to a farm near Washington C. H.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

COUNTY MINISTERS WILL MEET MONDAY

The Greene County Ministerial Association will hold its second meeting in the Sunday School room of the First M. E. Church, W. Second St., Monday at 10 a. m. The Rev. W. N. Shank will be the host pastor.

The Rev. C. L. Buehler, Jamestown, president, will have charge of the business meeting and will then present a paper entitled, "The Inspiration of the Bible." Following will be a discussion period on the theme.

According to previous agreement the charter membership list of the County Association will be closed at the end of Monday's meeting. Membership in the organization is open to the regularly constituted ministers resident in Greene County. Several constituted ministers resident in Greene County. Several professors in Antioch College and Cedarville College, who are also ministers, are being invited to attend the association meetings and to become regular members. Forty invitations are being sent to the county clergy this week.

FORMER XENIAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Word has been received here of the death of Randall Arnold, 63, who formerly operated a second hand furniture store in this city, which occurred in Los Angeles, Calif., January 24. After leaving Xenia Mr. Arnold was located in Owensmouth, Calif., before going on to Los Angeles.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Peck Arnold, a son and seven daughters, two of whom, Mrs. Tunis V. Dubois and Miss Dorothy J. Arnold, reside in Cincinnati. Burial took place in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, Calif., after funeral services at the Little Church of the Flowers.

SOUTHERN VISIT IS EXPLAINED TO CLUB

Impressions he received of Florida and Cuba were interestingly described in an informal talk given by C. E. Arbogust before members of the Xenia Kiwanis Club at their meeting at the Elks' Club Tuesday evening. Mr. Arbogust and a party of Xenians recently returned home after enjoying a five weeks' trip in the south.

Mr. Arbogust's talk was the only program feature following the regular weekly dinner of the club.

WHITE CHAPEL

Twelve members of the White Chapel Ladies' Aid Society enjoyed a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. H. D. Whittington, Stone Road, Thursday afternoon. A short business session, in charge of the president, Mrs. Hannah Turner was held and the remainder of the afternoon was spent sewing for the poor and needy. A salad course was served by the hostess and her daughters, Mrs. Foy Coffelt and Mrs. Adam Fox. Mrs. J. D. Keiter, Mrs. Sam Boyd, Mrs. Joseph Schardt, Mrs. A. P. Keiter and Miss Mary Beason were guests at the meeting. The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Y. Beason.

Mrs A. I. Swindler entertained several of her neighbors at an all day quilting Friday. Mrs. Swindler served a two course luncheon at noon. Those present were Mrs. Harvey Kyle, Mrs. J. L. Henderson, Mrs. J. D. Keiter, Mrs. Hannah Turner, Mrs. Henry Weiss, Mrs. Adam Fox, Miss Mary Beason, Mrs. Lee Fudge, Mrs. William Short, Mrs. H. D. Whittington, Mrs. J. C. Stitzel and Mrs. J. L. Beason.

Sixty friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Keiter gathered at their home Saturday evening and gave them a pleasant surprise. The party was a farewell for Mr. and Mrs. Keiter who have purchased the Weaver farm on the New Burlington Pike.

A covered dish supper preceded the social hour. Rev. J. C. Stitzel on behalf of the community expressed their regrets in losing Mr. and Mrs. Keiter from the community in which they have lived for so many years, but wishing them happiness and prosperity in their new home. Readings were given by Mrs. James Leininger, Mrs. Hannah Turner and Miss Lorraine Leininger. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bootes, Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Stitzel, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Keiter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kyle and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Beason, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weiss and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Whittington, Mr. and Mrs. James Leininger, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thomas, Mr. J. A. Farquhar, Mrs. Hannah Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spahr, Mr. and Mrs. William Short and family, the Misses Lorraine Leininger, Mary and Phyllis Beason, Thelma Keiter, Pauline Smith Ida and Mary Peterson, Loren and Charles Thomas, Paul Weaver, John Beason, Allen Whittington, Clarence Keiter and Paul Peterson.

WOMEN SAY IT'S WONDERFUL

Poor complexions and old looking skins lack protection. Preserve your skin with the new wonderful Face Powder MELLO-GLO used by so many beautiful women. Its special tint and finish are so youthful. MELLO-GLO stays on longer, prevents large pores, and spreads so smoothly. Purest powder made and does not irritate your skin.—Hutchison and Gibney. Adv

MIAMI UNIVERSITY DEAN WILL ADDRESS TEACHERS MEETING

Dr. E. J. Ashbaugh, dean of the school of education, Miami University, will give two addresses at a meeting of the Greene County Teachers' Association in the Bellbrook High School auditorium Saturday.

The morning session will open at 10 o'clock with music by an orchestra and invocation by the Rev. Robert Graham. There will be roll call of school districts followed by Dr. Ashbaugh's address on "Teaching History." Dr. Ashbaugh will conduct a round table discussion following his address. The morning session will close with two selections, "On to Spain," and "Japanese Tea" by the girls' glee club of Bellbrook High School.

Luncheon will be served at noon and the afternoon program will begin at 1:30. Miss Virginia Lackey will sing a solo and a duet will be given by the Misses Lackey and Ruth Anna Stanley. "Why I Am A Teacher" will be the subject of Dr. Ashbaugh's afternoon address. The program will close with a duet by the Misses Geneva Bond and Louise Fawcett.

Officers of the teachers' association are: H. D. Furst, president; C. A. Devoe, secretary-treasurer; H. C. Aultman, superintendent; Mrs. Dorothy Fawcett, Mrs. Anna Protzman and Miss Carrie Rife, executive committee.

MT. TABOR

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spahr and Mr. and Mrs. Oakie Spahr and daughter Helen, all of Jamestown and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and family near Xenia, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Harness.

Mr.and Mrs Elmer Wolary and family, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Birch Pierson and daughter of near Paintersville.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Harness spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Griffith.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kyle and family of Bridgeport spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Hollingsworth and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Saylor of Dayton, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Smith and family.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Hollingsworth, Thursday afternoon.

The regular monthly meeting of the Loyal Sons' and Daughters' Sunday School classes will be held at the school house, Friday evening, the 13th.

At the church, Sunday the 15th, Sunday School at 2 o'clock, F. M. Buckwalter, Supt. Preaching at 3, Rev. J. C. Stitzel pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Roba Smith of near Port William and Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Griffith of Pike County, spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Griffith.

ALL'S WELL NOW!

"Letting by-gones be by-gones" and with legal proceedings at an end, Hugh W. Thomasson, 73, of St. Louis, and his 29-year-old bride, are enjoying a second honeymoon. When the couple were first married, the elderly groom's attorney filed an annulment suit. Then the Thomassons disappeared, before the suit was heard, and charges of kidnaping filed by the attorneys, were met with the statement from Thomasson that he and his bride had become reconciled.

EAST END NEWS

A revival is now going on at the Pentecostal Church with good preaching by Evangelist Sister Orela Morris of Detroit, Mich. Everybody welcome.

There will be a revival at Middle Run Baptist Church beginning Sunday. The meeting is being held at Middle Run Baptist Church but it is for the benefit of everyone in Xenia. A national gospel singer will be present. Preaching every night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Luther Varner, proprietor of the Kozy Corner restaurant, is confined to his home on Fair St., being ill with the grip.

Mrs. J. C. Johnson of E. Market St., very pleasantly entertained the "Welfare Circle" of Ross Chapel, A. M. E. Church, Jamestown, O. Tuesday night at her commodious home. The pastor, the Rev. James Whitfield, was present, and added much to the interest of the meeting. Other guests were: Mesdames Thos. Jenkins, Leroy Washington, Edward Washington, Alonzo Thomas, Wesley Franklin, and G. A. Bramlette. After the business, the Circle was entertained with games and music by Miss Eloise Jenkins, and the Thomas children. Mrs. Bramlette made a short talk relative to the Circle, of which she was originator years ago in Jamestown. Mrs. Johnson served a delicious two course luncheon.

Mrs. Theodore Mason of E. Main St., has been in Wilberforce this week at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Jenkins and little son, Marion.

The Rev. W. M. Ward and choir of London, O., will officiate at the afternoon meeting Sunday at Ross Chapel, A. M. E. Church, Jamestown, O., the occasion being a birthday rally. Motor over and enjoy a musical feast.

Mrs. Guy Leach of E. Main St., who has been in Little Rock, Ark., taking treatments in a hospital, has returned home. She has not improved much to the regret of her many friends.

The ladies of the "Lend a Hand Circle," of First A. M. E. Church are preparing to give their monthly social, Saturday evening at the church to begin at 5 o'clock. All members and friends are asked to be present.

The Church Aid Society of Middle Run Baptist Church will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Annabel Gilkey, E. Church St.

Mrs. Eliza Ewell, Patton St., had as her guests Sunday her daughter, Mrs. C. Campbell, also Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ewell and son, Roy, of Milford, O., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dent and two sons, Dale and Bradley, of Springfield.

The pulpit committee of Zion Baptist Church will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary E. Harris, E. Market St.

Mrs. Henry Bledsaw, 721 E. Market St., who has been ill, is somewhat improved.

The Rev. C. J. Emery, preached a forceful sermon at the Zion Baptist Church Wednesday evening. He will preach Thursday and Friday evening also. The B. Y. P. U. choir will sing Thursday evening.

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

After the theft of the famous Hardway diamonds and Inspector Brooks is killed, Sir Edric Conway, police commissioner, puts his young friend, Dick Penhampton, who is in love with pretty Alison Weatherleigh, on the trail. Disguised as Captain Blackwood, a down-and-outer, Dick gets a job from a gang leader known as the Funny Toff, who Dick does not see, but hears his maniacal laughter. His first mission is to a deserted house at midnight, where he discovers the dead body of a crook named Herridge, who originally stole the jewels. One of the diamonds has been placed on the man's breast. Dick again hears the frightful laughter of his unseen employer. Dick realizes that whoever placed the diamond for him to find must have known of his own connection with the necklace.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 18

Dick felt a sudden wave of shame at the realization. His puerile attempts at amateur detection had been as transparent as glass to the brain which directed the gang. His assumption of the disguise of Captain Blackwood, his futile lurking in the unsavory heart of Walworth, had been to his adversary as an open book. His identity was known, his motives were patently revealed. But why had he been afforded this grim warning? How was it that some other victim, rather than himself, lay on the table in that sinister house? Here was yet another mystery.

His adversary had won the first round; of that there could be no question. Yet, while still under the horror of his recent experience, Dick was not intimidated. He had picked up the wrong weapons, that was all. It remained to discard them and to chose others, for he had no intention of abandoning the struggle. But he must first see Sir Edric.

At Barking he was lucky enough to fall in with a lorry driver, who gave him a lift as far as Mile End. From there he walked through the City and along the Embankment to Whitehall, wondering how he should approach his friend. No time was to be lost, he knew well enough. He had no wish to walk into Scotland Yard and blurt out his story. For one thing, he had nothing on him by which to prove his identity, and he was under no delusions as to the curious figure he cut.

At last he decided to enter a telephone call box and ring up Sir Edric at his flat. Fortunately, he was a widower and lived alone. Besides, Dick reflected that an Assistant Commissioner of Police must be accustomed to be rung up at all hours, even before dawn on Sunday morning. He put his idea into practice, and was rewarded by the sound of Sir Edric's brisk and alert voice. "Dick Penhampton?" he replied, without a trace of surprise. "Yes, come along at once. I'll let you in. No, don't apologize. I'm used to turning out at any time."

In a few minutes Dick had reached the flat in Whitehall Court. Sir Edric admitted him, and could not restrain an exclamation of astonishment at his appearance. But he asked no questions, and merely led Dick into the dining room, where he lighted the fire and take off your wet clothes," he brandy. "Here you are, drink this and take off your wet colthes," he said. "I'll lend you a dressing-gown and you can slip it on while I make a cup of tea. You'd rather I didn't disturb the household.

He disappeared, to return in a few minutes bearing a steaming pot of tea, "I can't work in the morning till I've had my tea," he said cheerfully. "And, by the look of you, you won't be any the worse for something warm. Now then, if you're ready, let's have the yarn."

Dick hesitated. In this comfortable room, in the presence of his matter-of-fact friend, it seemed as if the night's experiences had been some horrible nightmare. As much to reassure himself as anything else, he put his hand in his pocket and produced the diamond, which he laid on the table. It sparkled in the blaze of the electric light, splendid and iridescent.

Sir Edric glanced at it, and then looked intently at Dick. "Well?" he asked.

"That is one of the smaller and less valuable stones from the Hardway necklace," replied Dick.

Sir Edric picked it up and examined it with interest. "There is no doubt of that, I suppose?" he inquired.

"None whatever," replied Dick positively. "In an amateur sort of way, I am a bit of an expert in stones, and I knew the necklace well."

"Where did you find it?" asked Sir Edric.

"Lying on the body of a dead man," replied Dick. "Listen, and I'll tell you the whole story."

He was as good as his word, and gave a careful account of his doings from the time of his first visit to the Margate Jetty to his discovery of the body on the table. Sir Edric listened attentively, putting in a question here and there, and making notes of names and places on a sheet of paper. He sat for some moments in silence, after Dick had finished, and then laughed shortly.

"I ought, I suppose, to read you a lecture on usurping the functions of the police," he said. "You know, Dick, the amateur detective is usually an infernal nuisance, and always ends by giving us more trouble than he's worth. But, in this case, I won't deny that you've been useful. Ever since I saw poor Brooks' body in that packing-case, I have suspected the agency at the bottom of it all, and you've confirmed by suspicions. You have been in the presence of a man who is the greatest criminal mystery of modern times."

"The man I met in Crek Street, Wapping?" inquired Dick eagerly.

Sir Edric nodded. "That is the man," he replied gravely. "None of us have ever seen him, to our knowledge. But, for the last ten years or so, whenever there has been a mystery which we could not solve, a crime of which we could not detect the perpetrator, we have come across traces of him in the course of our investigations. We knew nothing of him for a long time, we believed that he was not an individual, but merely a sign adopted by the members of one of the criminal gangs. We possess nothing by which to identify him, no finger-prints, no footmarks, no tangible evidence of his existence. So far he has completely eluded us."

"But how do you know of him, then?" asked Dick.

"By a word dropped here and there," replied Sir Edric. "We know that a directing mind exists, which engineers the details of many curious crimes. So much we have extorted from the tools who have fallen into our hands. But never have we succeeded in persuading any of these tools to give us the slightest clue as to his identity. He has established a regular reign of terror among the criminal classes, any member of which would rather undergo the utmost penalty of the law than inform against him. Personally, I believe that they know very little more about him than we do ourselves. The only characteristic that has ever been described to us is his laugh."

Dick shuddered. "Ugh, I can hear it still!" he exclaimed. "What is the man's name?"

"His real name?" replied Sir Edric. "That I would give a good deal to know. The underworld has christened him from his laugh, and we have adopted the nickname."

"And that is?" suggested Dick.

"The Funny Toff," replied Sir Edric gravely.

Inspector Pollard was struggling with a theory. Struggling was, in fact, the only word which adequately expressed his frame of mind. On the one hand, the theory was so ridiculous that no sane man could be expected to accept it. On the other hand, the few facts which he was able to discover tended to confirm it.

Pollard was thoroughly domesticated man. He had a wife and two children and was the owner of a very nice little house in Clapham. His hours off duty he spent in the bosom of his family, slippers on his feet, pipe in his mouth and the latest detective story in his hand. He loved detective stories. Having little or no imagination himself, he had a supreme contempt for that attribute as an aid to detective work. The charm of the crime novel was, to him, in the wide gulf it displayed between fact and fiction.

From the first, he had been secretly disgusted at being put in charge of the Hardway case. Had the matter begun and ended with the disappearance of the necklace, he would not have minded. But the murder of his friend Brooks had enormously complicated matters. Brooks had been murdered as the result of incautious inquiry into the burglary. Surely to take on his job was the business of an unmarried man, of which there were plenty in the Force. It would be highly unpleasant for his family if he were to share Brooks' fate.

Not that Pollard was in any sense a coward. He was merely cautious. If it became necessary, he would risk his life as fearlessly as any of his colleagues. But he had resolved that, if he could help it, it would not become necessary. His plan was not to enter into a personal duel with his adversary, but draw the net tighter and tighter round him until he could be landed without risk.

Margaret Wycherly Will Play Before Microphone

By MILDRED MASON

LOVERS of plays will be interested in the presentation of St. John Ervine's "Jane Clegg" by the NBC Radio Guild Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock over the NBC networks through WLW, Cincinnati. Margaret Wycherly and Ernest Cossort, two players well known to Broadway audiences, will be guest stars in the presentation.

Miss Wycherly, who will play the title role, played "Jane Clegg" for the Radio Guild in 1920. Other Broadway engagements in which she has played the leading roles include "The Adding Machine" by Elmer Rice; "Back to Methuselah," by George Bernard Shaw and "What the Public Wants," by Arnold Bennett. Mr. Cossort has been seen by American audiences in "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Arms and the Man," "He Who Gets Slapped," "The Apple Cart," and other productions.

NORMAN S. CASE

Red Cross Program Thursday

The special Red Cross program in which Judge John Barton Payne, Gov. Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas and Gov. Norman I. Case, of Rhode Island, are to take part and which was announced for Wednesday evening will be heard Thursday evening from 9:30 to 10 o'clock. Sponsors of the Maxwell House program, which is heard at this time, have donated their time on the air to the Red Cross this week.

Another Dancing Lesson

Arthur Murray, dancing master, who is instructing his radio audience in the art of the light fantastic every Friday evening on the Natural Bridge Review over the NBC networks, through station WCKY, Covington, from 8:45 to 9 o'clock, will give hints on how to overcome self-consciousness on the dance floor, in his program this week.

Mountaineer Children On Air

Four children of the same Kentucky mountaineer stock that produced Abraham Lincoln will sing for the Ohio School of the Air program over WLW, Friday at 2 p. m. The quartet is from the Henderson Settlement School at Linda, Bell County, Ky. They will sing "A Typical Mountaineer," "Tilda Johnson," and "No Sir."

Stage Star Is Guest

Norma Terrace, who last year had one of the leading roles in Florenz Ziegfeld's "Show Boat," will be guest artist in Nestles' program over the NBC networks Friday evening. The program will be heard over WLW, Cincinnati, at 8 o'clock.

Lucky Fate!

It is only through fate that Horace Heidt, who with his orchestra is heard every night over WLW, Cincinnati, from the Hotel Gibson, became an orchestra leader. While a student at the University of California he received a fractured vertebra in a football game and in order to pay his doctor bills he went into the orchestra racket.

DISEASE RETURNS

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A shipment of parrots from Havana was blamed today for a new outbreak of parrot fever in New York. One man died from the disease and four of his relatives are ill.

Health authorities said, however, there was no danger of an epidemic and that the cases represented an isolated outbreak.

STARS OF RADIOLAND

Anthony Wons

"Tony's Scrapbook," a well known radio feature, received its foundation abroad when Anthony Wons was in a hospital recovering from wounds he received in the war. It was then that he started collecting the verse and anecdotes with which he now entertains a wide audience in his inimitable manner. Has learned six Shakespeare plays which he presents in their entirety. Tony is younger than you pictured him, isn't he?

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

The Theater

One of the pitiful things about the film colony is the example of improvidence frequently heard of. Marion Davies, Mary Pickford, Ruth Roland and many other stars have been thrifty but it is the experience of many that, receiving more money than they ever saw before, thanks to the beneficence of the films, they have spent mor than they made.

Francis X. Bushman, who had the world at his feet as an early cinema star, is now broke. He is reported to have run through with seven or eight million dollars and at the peak of his career sported a lavender limousine with custom-built body. He says he had a good time and has no regrets.

It is not intended to indict all the unfortunate with the charge of improvidence and lack of thrift, but a pitiful case is reported in the news columns. Mary Carr, celebrated "mother" of the films is the latest proof that fame and fortune are often celebrated in Hollywood. She has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Hollywood but is still remembered for her many fine characterizations of mother roles.

Some of these screen people, however, have the courage to overcome adversity, as is indicated in the remarkable return to success of Dorothy Mackaye Raymond and Paul Michael Kelly.

Both served terms in San Quentin, Calif. prison, in connection with the fist-fight slaying of Dorothy's husband, Ray Raymond, also an actor. Since their release, however, both have prospered in stage productions and were married Tuesday in a friend's apartment in New York.

Both gave their ages as 31. Miss Mackaye was born in Denver and Kelly in Brooklyn. It is her second marriage and his first. In this case misfortune and suffering seems to have created a communion of spirits.

Maybe a term in prison will also have a chastening effect on our recent friend of the public prints, Miss Daisy Devoe, who became secretary to the mischievous Clara Bow and is said to have mulcted that red-head out of considerable cash.

The judge who sentenced Miss Devoe to eighteen months imprisonment and five years probation, said the jury was generous to her in only convicting her on one count. It may be relevant here and now to say that Daisy Devoe and Daisy DeBoe are one and the same.

It all happened this way. Her original name was Daisy DeBoe but when she entered Miss Bow's employ it was decided it would be best to change her name because of the similarity with that of the screen star. So she adopted Daisy Devoe. When she leaped into prominence, newspapermen got together and agreed that, for purposes of uniformity, she would be known as Daisy Devoe. That is all agreed except the Associated Press, which apparently wanted to be different and called her Daisy DeBoe causing considerable confusion among readers.

LAWLESSNESS DECRIED HERE BY JUDGE; CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

JUDGE HARRY GRAM

FRED B. COY

"The crime picture we have today is a challenge to our citizenship."

This declaration was made by Judge Harry G. Gram, Springfield, most worshipful grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, who was guest speaker at the annual banquet-meeting of the Masonic Club Wednesday night at the Xenia Masonic Temple.

The day is not far distant, Judge Gram predicted, "when we will handle our criminals more scientifically. Instead of penning hardened criminals five or ten years and then turning them loose to prey upon society again, we will try scientific methods to cure them."

Judge Gram, speaking on the subject, "Which Way America?" emphasized the need for taking immediate action of some nature to combat the present wave of lawlessness in this country.

"Rome and Greece," he asserted, "were once the wealthiest and most enlightened on the earth, but through their laxity in moral and social laws they sank into oblivion. We must guard more carefully the principles Abraham Lincoln lived and fought for. We are living a tremendous pace and must return to the old-fashioned ideas."

The future of America depends upon the Boy Scout movement and boys having a fundamental training in Scoutcraft will eventually show America "which way," he said. "We must get squarely behind the Scout organization. We must be builders of character."

Drawing his conclusions from his experience as judge of the juvenile and probate court of Clark County, the speaker charged that the public school system to a certain extent has not kept pace with progress and the changes which have taken place.

Judge Gram recommended a revision of the school system with more vocational training and moral and religious instruction. "We have been so accustomed to teaching academic subjects that we have lost sight of the fact some pupils are unable to master them. The schools fail to teach occupations."

The speaker lauded the school system of the O. S. and S. O. Home here because the pupils are given an opportunity to learn a trade and to become fitted for public service.

"America," he also said, "should not be judged by its territory, population and resources, but by its moral and spiritual growth. We have two classes of citizens: the righteous American citizen and aliens who come into this country with no respect for law and order, but with the intention of getting from the country all they can."

Annual election of officers for 1931 resulted in the selection of Fred B. Coy as president, succeeding W. Crawford Craig; Dr. A. C. Messenger, relected vice-president; A. E. Faulkner, relected treasurer, and Attorney W. A. Miller, secretary, succeeding L. F. Clark.

The new board of directors of the club is composed of Harold J. Fawcett, Charles Breiel and Jacob Kany, all of Xenia; John C. Ferguson, Jamestown; Frank L. Currey, Yellow Springs; C. E. Masters, Cedarville, and Harold Van Pelt, New Burlington. Retiring directors are Emil Elchman, W. C. Downs and J. H. Whitmer.

Approximately 100 Masons from over Greene County attended the annual meeting, which was preceded by dinner served by Jacob Kany at 6:15 o'clock. Dr. A. C. Messenger, presiding as toastmaster, introduced several out-of-town Masonic guests and also Judge Gram, who was a Republican candidate for congress in the Seventh District at the last August primary.

Paul H. Creswell, Xenia, who became United States marshal for Southern Ohio District January 1, also spoke briefly, describing his work and his experiences on a recent trip to Atlanta, Ga., when he had charge of twenty-four federal prisoners sentenced to the federal penitentiary in the Southern city.

the principal speaker Another was Carl Sandburg, the poet, and author of the "Lincoln the Prairie Years" Tonight, Sandburg will be the chief speaker at the annual banquet of the Lincoln Memorial Association.

Aside from the official and formal celebrations, there were many gatherings of those who actually knew Lincoln.

With Herbert Fahy, custodian of the Lincoln tomb, visited by most of the notables of the world, they discussed and criticized the newest Lincoln book of Edgar Lee Masters, in which he pictures Lincoln as only a shrewd politician, unkempt and uncouth Most of them disagreed heartily with Masters, and pointed out that it was Masters who wrote the epitaph on the tombstone of Ann Rutledge, buried in the cemetery high above Petersburg In it is the gist of the story that she was Lincoln's sweetheart whose death drove him to distraction for a time. But there are many who will tell you that William Herndon, one-time law partner of Lincoln, who started that story after Lincoln's assassination to annoy Mary Todd Lincoln, who omitted no opportunity to snub Herndon, whom she did not like, and who reciprocated her antagonism.

Others will tell you that the monument that is being rebuilt, does not actually mark the site of the burial place of Lincoln.

Senator Earl Searcy quotes one man named Leon F. Hopkins who was employed by the Lincoln guard, a volunteer association established after the effort, in the seventies, of counterfeiters to steal the body of Lincoln and hold it until one of their number had been pardoned from the penitentiary to guard the tomb from vandals.

Hopkins, who now is past eighty years old, was employed to inspect the casket after one of the numerous reports that other efforts had been made to desecrate the tomb. He was a tinner and metal worker, and still lives in Springfield. His story is this:

"The guard feared they had been deceived, and I was employed, through them, by the state, to inspect and re-seal the casket. I was the last man to look upon the face of Lincoln. For after the inspection, I alone re-sealed the metal casket. Later, with Mrs. Lincoln, the bodies were placed in still other boxes, and buried in solid cement under a site which is rods away from the tomb. The story that Lincoln is buried under twelve feet of concrete under the sarcophagus, I am quite sure, is inaccurate, and I doubt if anybody now could locate the actual burial place.

"It was done to make sure that vandals never could desecrate the burial place, and so far as I know, there never was a written memorandum left to indicate where the spot is. I think I know, but there is no reason why I should reveal it."

START TICKET SALE FOR OPERETTA HERE

Tickets have been issued to members of the Central Junior High School to be sold for the annual junior high operetta to be presented in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium Thursday night, February 19. The price will be thirty-five cents for both upper and lower floors. There will be no reserved seats sold for the performances. The operetta will begin at 8:15.

William Hugh Miller, director, has been working hard with his cast for the past few weeks and expects the performance to be the best ever presented by the students. Ralph Nichols has been chosen to take the place of David Cherry in the performance, since the latter will not be able to perform because of an operation performed Monday.

Final rehersals will be held this week and the first of next week for the operetta.

ENGLAND BATTERED BY SEVERE GALES

LONDON, Feb. 12.—One of the fiercest gales experienced this winter swept the British Isles today, battering the coastlines with huge waves.

Smaller vessels scurried to shelter and ships in the Channel and North Sea were badly buffeted. Some property damage has been reported from inland areas.

FRATERNAL PROTECTION

WITH A 48-YEAR RECORD OF SUCCESS

In a little Iowa town, Modern Woodmen of America was organized in 1883. Its purpose was to broaden the social opportunities of farm, town and city, to promote fraternal activities in various communities and to provide life insurance protection for its members. So successfully has it done these things that Modern Woodmen of America now has more than thirteen thousand local camps in forty-six states and four Canadian provinces, has become the largest fraternal beneficiary society in the World, and has more than a billion dollars of life insurance protection in force.

• FOR THE FAMILY Protection ror every member of your family is provided by Modern Woodmen of America at the lowest cost consistent with safety. On equal terms, this organization insures men and women, from sixteen to sixty, for amounts ranging from $500 to $10,000, and in such a variety of certificate forms that you can select one to fit the average need. There is even a Junior Insurance Department for children under sixteen. For the benefit of members who become afflicted with tuberculosis a free sanatorium is maintained in Colorado.

• SAFE AND SOUND Modern Woodmen of America is 100% actuarially solvent. Its claims are paid, ($455,000,000 to date) and will continue to be paid promptly and in full. Its modernized plan of insurance is safe, sound and meets all requirements. To be insured in Modern Woodmen of America is to enjoy unusual benefits in addition to the safety of its insurance guaranteed by the required reserves.

• GET MORE DETAILS One or more of the thirteen thousand Modern Woodmen Camps must be in your neighborhood. For more information as to benefits of membership and how you can protect your dependents, see the local camp clerk or deputy, or write to the Head Offices. Decide today to do this.

N. Y. Woman Lost 14 Pounds of Fat

One 85 Cent Bottle of Kruschen Salts Did It

"I am starting on my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and am real pleased with results. I take it for reducing and so far have lost 14 pounds and I think it is doing wonders for me. I do not feel so tired evenings when I get home from work."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at any drug store in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat.

Before the bottle is empty surplus fat is leaving you—indolence changes to activity — you'll feel younger—eyes will brighten—step grows spry. Millions know this—you ought to know it. Kruschen Salts is the ideal treatment for constipation, indigestion, headaches, nervousness and acidity.

Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it—if not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. adv.
